Russia comes to Sydney with a concerto by Nikolai Medtner, the Russian virtuoso who settled there in the 1930s. Medtner's music has long been overshadowed by that of his friend Rachmaninoff, but his first concerto revels in the sheer beauty of the piano, spinning fabulous melodies that seem to flow from the soul of the instrument.

The Planets is a must-hear event under Vladimir Ashkenazy's baton. The astrological portraits of the celestial bodies are triumphs of dazzling orchestral magic and unforgettable musical imagery
